With an eye for detail, Dr. Nancy Chen was drawn to art at an early age, from drawing to painting and mechanical design. In medical school, she was captivated by Ophthalmology for its ability to reverse the signs of cataracts and return the gift of sight to patients, as well as its focus on the delicate skin of the eyelids. “As an Ophthalmologist, I help my patients see better, feel better and look better,” she says.

Today, Dr. Chen runs two practices in Kapolei, Kapolei Eye Care and Pua Manu Medspa. At the former, she sees patients and performs routine eye exams and surgery, while at the latter she addresses medical aesthetic skin and body needs. “Both of my clinics are equipped with the latest and greatest technology to achieve the best results for each individual,” she says. Dr. Chen listens carefully to her patients and creates specialized treatment plans to address their unique needs.

As a 2023 Castle Connolly Top Doctor, Dr. Chen is on a mission to discover holistic treatments for diseases with no current solutions in the Eastern world. She’s had success treating a 98-year-old woman who was nearly blind and recovered her eyesight to 20/70. “I’m always looking for therapies that beat the odds, reverse the impossible and prolong sight for patients with diseases that lead to blindness,” she says.

At Pua Manu Medspa, she’s partnered with FDA-approved devices, skincare products and injectables to ensure her patients the safest and most effective treatments available. She says, “We can reverse the appearance of aging with minimal downtime and without undergoing cosmetic surgery.”
